Speakers Bureau Event

Commissioner James McHugh to Address The Charlestown Mothers Association

Massachusetts Gaming Commission Continues Community Outreach via Speakers Bureau and Participation in Statewide Speaking Engagements

WHO: Massachusetts Gaming Commission Commissioner, James McHugh; members of the Charlestown Mothers Association

WHAT: Commissioner McHugh will address members of the Charlestown Mothers Association. Commissioner McHugh will update attendees on the latest news from MassGaming and provide an update on the overall progress of the licensing process.

Through the establishment of MassGaming's Speakers Bureau, the commission is participating in numerous statewide speaking engagements to keep the public informed of the schedule and process, increase community awareness of the roles and responsibilities of the commission, encourage community involvement and solicit valuable feedback to facilitate an all-inclusive, decision-making process.

WHERE: Knights of Columbus, 545 Medford Street, Charlestown, MA

WHEN: Monday, July 15, 2013 at 6:30pm

INFO: As the commission strives to ensure that its decision-making and regulatory systems engender the confidence of the public and participants, the MassGaming Speakers Bureau provides an important face-to-face opportunity to communicate directly and facilitate a dialogue with its vast constituency. In order to create the most efficient process, it is suggested that requestors have a minimum audience of 30 attendees and make the request 30 days in advance. To facilitate a Speakers Bureau request, the speaker request form is easily accessible on MassGaming.com.
